

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The Democratic Members Meet in Joint Caucus

And Adopt the Report of the Committee of Thirteen

Regarding the Apportionment Bills—The Metropolitan Bill Also Adopted.

Testimony Taken in the Knightstown Home Investigation—Other Legislative Notes.

The new bond of the State Treasurer will be filed to-day.

Senator McIntosh has introduced a bill to abolish the State Board of Health.

The bill requiring Clerks of the Supreme Court to keep a record of their fees was discussed in the Senate yesterday, and finally referred to a special committee, with instructions to report to-day.

The House yesterday considered the County Superintendent's bill, providing for a per diem of $5 when actually employed, and for visiting the school upon invitation of the Trustee only. The bill was defeated.

The House resolution for submitting to the people an amendment which fixes the terms of county officers at four years was concurred in by the Senate, after adopting an amendment that county surveys may be re-elected.

Thomas M. Ochiltree, of Rushville, was in the city yesterday consulting with the Democratic members of the Legislature to have Rush County attached to the old Fourth Congressional District. Mr. Ochiltree is an active Democrat, and a good political organizer.

Senator May, Willard, Duncan of Brown, Campbell of St. Joseph, and Huston were yesterday appointed a committee to investigate certain newspaper charges that there are now eighteen more persons employed by the officers than the law authorizes, and one of these has already drawn more than his pay for the entire season.

A resolution has been introduced by Senator McIntosh directing the Committee on Swamp Lands to prepare a bill repealing the drainage act of 1881, and to provide new means for drainage of wet lands. Senator Campbell, of St. Joe, hoped the Senate would not adopt the resolution. It was an attempt to repeal what was called the "drain law," and to vest all powers with the County Commissioners again. The Drainage Commissioners, appointed by the Circuit Court Judges, had given satisfaction, the facilities for drainage were cheaper and more effective than under the old County Commissioners' system. Senator Sellers, of White, also hoped the resolution would not be adopted. It was made the special order for Thursday.

THE PURDUE APPROPRIATION. The House bill appropriating $40,000 to Purdue University came up in the Senate yesterday and was passed. The bill now only lacks the signature of the Governor to become a law. In his remarks upon the bill Senator Johnson of Tippecanoe, said:

Mr. President—This appropriation was made two years ago by the General Assembly, but failed on account of the failure of the appropriation bill, in which it had been embodied. After Purdue University had thus, by a mere technicality, been deprived of its legitimate support, the question arose, what was to be done? The endowment fund granted by the General Assembly in 1862, a conditional one, and reverts to the United States Government of the State of Indiana fails to maintain the University. It is for this reason that the temporary absence of funds had closed its doors, that fund would have been forfeited and Indiana would have lost one of its greatest educational institutions. In this predicament a number of patriotic citizens of wealth and influence came to the assistance of the University, and through their personal efforts secured the means to save Purdue to the State. For these efforts these men are entitled to the gratitude of the State of Indiana, because they were inspired by unselfish and noble motives, motivated by the desire to do an act of justice and mercy, and by the desire to see the State of Indiana, which through its General Assembly, had already declared for the appropriation, to be reimbursed for the assistance they had rendered.

It is this appropriation of two years ago which, by a decided majority of the Senate and the House, was deemed requisite for the success of Purdue University, which I ask the Senate to allow without further delay. Certainly the Senate can not perform a better service to the State than by doing so. The Senate at once expressed its will to maintain the educational interests of the State, and it redeems an obligation which, so to say, the honor of the State stands pledged.

Two years ago a certain opposition was made to this appropriation on account of a certain Greek fraternity rule which had been introduced, and which was highly objectionable to the Senate. This rule has not been in practical operation for years, and the University is now under the management of one of the best practical educators in the West, Professor Smith. It is for this reason now to give Mr. Smith such a support as will enable him really to make Purdue University what we all want it to be, a pride to the whole State of Indiana. If it can be done, it will be done by President Smith. Let not a dissenting voice be heard against this bill.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The Democrats met in a caucus last evening for the purpose of receiving the report of the Committee of Thirteen on the Patte A. Apportionment bills. The Congressional bill submitted was the same as given in the Sentinel last week, and the Senators and Representatives bills introduced by Mr. Patten were substantially recommended by the committee as originally drawn up, the changes being very slight and unimportant. An amendment or two was offered but promptly voted down, and the caucus accepted the committee's report by an almost unanimous vote.

Senator Schloss, of Vigo, then introduced a resolution to take up the Metropolitan Police bill, and the taking up, which has heretofore been smooth, became all at once rough and uncertain. Senator Brown, of Whitley, was the first to note an objection. He thought the measure unwise and impolitic.

Mr. Gooding opposed the bill for the same reasons. Representative Harden, of Allen County, said he had been instructed by his constituents to vote against the bill, and he could not, therefore, be controlled by caucus action. He declared that Fort Wayne did not want the bill. Other members spoke some for and some against it, and Mr. McMichael thought to settle the question and give time for further consideration by moving to refer the matter to a committee of five with instructions to report to-night. The resolution was voted down and the caucus determined to support the bill, and it will no doubt become a law.

THE KNIGHTSTOWN HOME INVESTIGATION.

The Knightstown Home Investigating Committee met last night, at 7:30 o'clock, in the committee rooms at the Grand Hotel, to hear further evidence in the matters now under consideration.

Frank Kaiser, of New Castle, was the first witness. He is barkeeper in his father's saloon. He said it is impossible to give Goar's journey through the city.

from Hedge's office. He did not see the girl enter the school house after leaving Goar's office on the occasion referred to by Hedge. Kaiser's father ordered him to sell no more liquor to Goar.

P. H. Brown, attorney at New Castle, was next called. He said he was Goar's attorney in a trial before a Peace Justice when Goar was up for drunkenness. He entered a plea of guilty for Goar, but Goar afterwards wanted him to appeal the case, because he did not want the record to stand that way.

Ed Cahn testified that Goar's reputation for sobriety is not good; he did not know anything about it for morals.

Robert Nixon said Goar's reputation for morality is good, but never knew anything about it for sobriety; never knew anything except what Hedge said about the girl. Goar is a good business man, but his reputation for sobriety is bad.

George B. Robinson, Doorkeeper of the Senate, said the G. A. R. to examine the charges against him, but that organization abandoned it.

The committee will meet this morning at 7 o'clock.

THE CHINESE NEW YEAR.

Closing Celebration at the Second Presbyterian Church Last Night—A Banquet, Followed by Speeches.

The celebration of the Chinese New Year by the Chinamen of this city closed last night with a banquet to about 200 of the personal friends of the class of the Second Presbyterian Church. The guests assembled at the auditorium, where they passed the time in social chat until 10 o'clock, when the banquet room was thrown open and the company was invited in.

The tables were elegantly arranged, and the fact that for over an hour the disposition of the tables occupied the time of the guests testified to the rare enjoyment of the occasion. Dishes of rare flavor passed from guest to guest, many of them being peculiarly Chinese dishes. Finally, the tables were cleared, and Mr. Binford announced that Rev. James McLeod would take charge of the ceremonies for the balance of the evening, he to speak first and to take for his subject the sentiment on the wall, emphatically expressed by the Chinese, "The Open Bible United Us." This sentence was expressed by words constructed of evergreen, with a Bible opened on an improvised stand for the second and third words. Mr. McLeod made a few comical allusions not particularly applicable to the subject, but finally he warmed up and really threatened the audience with an interesting sermon, stopping, however, just as every one was preparing for an eloquent address. He then called upon Dr. Jeffries, of the First Baptist Church. The doctor also spoke in his happiest vein and created much merriment by his remarks. The doctor was formerly a resident of Denver and became very conversant with the Chinese and their manners. He had charges of a class there, and he said that gratitude was one of their strongest characteristics. He said they felt that they never could do enough for their teachers. They teach us lessons of generosity. Mr. Jeffries referred to the fact that by our institutions it is contrary to discriminate against the Chinese. He said his part he felt very warm toward them as a people.

Following him Mr. McLeod called upon Dr. Alabaster, of Meridian Street Church. Dr. Alabaster said he thanked the Celestials present for the most eloquent speech of the evening. He said the Chinese question is one in which we are all interested in. There is a wide difference between the political and the religious sentiments of a country. He thought he could show that the Christian sentiment is in sympathy with this people. For some time has seemed to be in a kind of position of waiting. It is a wonderful land in many respects. For some thousands of years she has been waiting. Now the people have come to us and are receiving from us the word of truth. It is never to die out in China. This can not be said for every land. Once planted in China, the Christian religion can never again be taken from them. The doctor spoke of the sympathy between him and the Chinese, his daughter and her husband being now in China as missionaries.

Following Dr. Alabaster, Judge Walker was called out to speak for the attorneys. Dr. McLeod said that after they had heard about the case, an address would be given by Mr. Binford, whom he denominated the "Bishop of the Chinese Diocese of Indianapolis." Judge Walker spoke in his own happy vein. His remarks were rather severe at times on the minority, but all was done with an air of pleasantry which was wonderfully in keeping with the occasion. He said he did not know that anybody could make a speech without a text unless it was a preacher. The ministers have not told much of religion; suppose I speak about that. Let us learn the lesson of the Flower Land. He spoke of their generosity, and referred to their treatment in other cities by their enemies, and then called attention to the fact that they poured $5,000 into the coffers of this country to relieve the wants of their persecutors.

Dr. Bondthaler, of the Tabernacle Church, was next called out. The doctor spoke very briefly, but happily; after which Mayor McMaster was called out. The Mayor spoke chiefly to the point that the Chinese were of a quiet disposition, not molesting anyone, but sometimes molested by others. He also said that fifteen years ago when he made a speech at a similar occasion when his wife was present, she took him to task about it, telling him he did not do his best. He was not certain but by her for this effort. The Mayor was followed by Mr. Binford, who spoke quietly but earnestly on the subject nearest to his heart, for to him and his wife are largely due the thanks of the guests for the entertainment. Governor Hendricks was to have been present, but he was unfortunately absent to the regret of all present. At a late hour the happy company dispersed, each one wishing the Chinamen pleasant returns of the day.

COURT-HOUSE LOCALS.

A Couple of Damage Suits Filed—Other Notes.

The damage suit of James A. Brandon vs. Mary B. Hammond et al. was dismissed in Room 1 yesterday.

Elizabeth Rauscher has given bond as administratrix of the estate of Ferdinand Rauscher, deceased.

The suit of T. C. H. Lee vs. Daniel Parkhurst was dismissed in the Circuit Court yesterday. The suit was on a note given in a trade on a patent.

Judge Taylor yesterday heard the divorce suit of Mary Kidd vs. Oliver Kidd, and entered a decree for plaintiff on proof of cruel treatment and adultery. Defendant lives at Seymour.

Jacob T. Scholl has given $1,100 bonds as executor of the estate of Frederick Lagerman, deceased. This man was the janitor who died last week. His will, which was probated, leaves $25 to Theresa Hoffman and the residue of the property to Joseph Raible, head janitor of the city offices, and his wife.

The suit of Fred P. Rush & Co. vs. J. W. Thompson and J. W. French has been transferred from the Hendricks Circuit Court to this county. The suit is on an account, plaintiffs claiming $3,120.51, commissions on purchases and sales of grain for defendants. Demand, $4,000.

John H. Hughes has filed suit against the L. H. and W. Railway for damages. Hughes was employed as a freight brakeman in the yards, August 20, 1883. A large number of cars, drawn by two engines—double-header—was pulled into the yards, and plaintiff was thrown between them. He was permanently crippled. Demand, $5,000.

William S. Hastings has filed suit against the McCoy Manufacturing Company for damages. The complaint alleges that on the 4th of June defendant was in business at 306 to 350 West Market street, and plaintiff was directed to work with a friezer, the bit of which had been tempered in water, which rendered it a dangerous thing to work with. It broke and cut him in the hand and injured him permanently. Demand, $5,000.

AMUSEMENTS.

DICKSON'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE—THE MARRIED WOMAN—"BEGGAR STUDENT."

During the past few days the city press has been quite lavish in its promises of what was in store for our music-loving public, as regards the complete and entire production of Millocher's beautiful opera, "The Beggar Student," by the Mannerchor Society. The first performance, last evening, to a large audience, at Dickson's, not only proved an unqualified success, but emphasized the fact that the claims of the press were adequately fulfilled. No comparison can be made with the fragmentary and imperfect rendering of the same opera by the Thompson company a few weeks since. The solo parts, choruses, costumes, and mounting, all of which were excellently done out to a guileless public by many professional companies. The entire production was under the direction of Professor Carl Baras, a gentleman whose musical knowledge and statements are a second to few, and whose handling of the baton was a guarantee of its artistic production. The German characteristic, "thoroughness," was evinced throughout, giving the score with artistic precision and an aggressive spirit that warmed the audience into a state of noble enthusiasm. The chorus contained about sixty voices, and was particularly strong in volume, carrying the triumphant airs and choruses with a strength and dash that "brought down the house," particularly so in the grand finale of the second and third acts. The large orchestra was in every way efficient, and is only excelled by those of the grander of grand opera. The principal honors of course fell to Mrs. J. P. French, as "Lena," a beautiful soprano, heretofore, especially the one when the same lady was cast in the leading role of "Stradella" last season, the Sentinel has been somewhat profuse in its admiration of her voice. Take it all in all, here is the best soprano voice the city of Indianapolis has yet produced.

In his sweet, pure and natural strength, her voice is an unusual one, delicious in its roundness and facilities. Her personality is very agreeable, and with proper voice culture and the addition of dramatic talent, she would prove a shining star in the lyric firmament. Several of her solos were repeated in answer to encores. Miss Laura Riesling, cast as the "Countess," was uniformly pleasing, singing the part in a dignified and noble way. The rich, contralto voice of good quality, besides displaying good dramatic instinct, Miss Adams, daughter of the "Countess," made a very good impression in her part as Pauline, Lucia's Grand Opera Opera. Every one admitted her with credit. He has intelligence and admirable method, coupled with unusual tact in making up. Mr. J. P. French, as the "Governor," displayed decided dramatic ability, with a prepossessing physique, which of necessity was somewhat marred by his make-up. The song "Sponge it Out" afforded him opportunity for the introduction of local songs which were pointed, and those referring to the police regulation of the liquor traffic elicited much merriment. Mr. Bennerheide was cast as "Janick," and gave the part its full due. He has some very good notes, which, with his keen dramatic instinct, makes his presence on the stage impressive and agreeable. Other parts of minor importance were well taken, and in fact there was no novelty and inadequate members in the cast. As this is the most notable musical event this season and given by a society of local importance, those who remain away will miss a grand treat. The house will doubtless be again crowded this evening on the occasion of the second rendering of the same opera.

"DOLLARS AND CENTS" AT ENGLISH'S. English's Opera House was fairly filled last night, considering the severity of the weather. Fannie Beane and Charles Gilday, in "Dollars and Cents," present much that is new and novel. The piece is crowded with mirth-provoking sayings and bright, "catchy" music. Mrs. Fannie Beane, as "Sarah Ann Grubbs," is just as mischievous as a healthy girl of sixteen is when she does not do her best. Mr. Charles Gilday, as "Willie Waddie," the author is as clever and funny as a jester, always the same good natured smile that soon draws the audience willing, laughing captives. The support is very good, and the play runs smoothly without a jar. The engagement ends with Wednesday night. All Wednesday matinees, 25 cents to all parts of the house.

THE DIME MUSEUM. Despite the cold, disagreeable weather, the Dime Museum opened the week yesterday with large attendance, both afternoon and night. The show, this week, is especially strong in Curiosity Hall. The principal features are the African Pygmies, or Bushmen, a full description of which was given in yesterday's Sentinel; the "Ghost Mystery," Harry DeLane, the literary curiosity, who composes poetry instantaneously from subjects given him by the audience; Dr. E. B. Sisson, the long-haired children, Williams' London "Punch and Judy," and the Jordan Glass-Blowers. The entire stage show to the theaterium is given by the Rhinehart Juvenile Opera Company, who appear in the charming opera of "Little Red Riding Hood." The company numbers some thirty clever little people, and they sing the music in good style. It is excellently mounted and costumed, and the performance as a whole is very pleasing, notably the specialties of the Rhinehart children, Bobby Ralston and Frankie Jones. Same bill all week.

NOTES. This morning at the Grand Opera House box office, the advance sale of seats for the engagement of the popular comedian, Nat Goodwin, the last three nights of the week, opens, and promises to be very large. Mr.

Goodwin's engagement will be under the auspices and for the benefit of the Fire Department, and the members have already sold over 5,000 tickets. He will be seen in two entirely new plays, "Those Belles" and "Confusion," presenting both at each performance. The engagement, doubtless, will be one of the largest of the season.

The Alice Oates Combination, which was to have opened at the Zoo last night, was snow-bound at Mariano, near Kankakee. The telegram received states they will positively arrive in time to open for the matinee to-day. The company will be seen in the burlesque of "Robin Hood."

The Wigwag Rink. This evening a speed contest for the five-mile championship of the city will take place at the Wigwag Rink between Walter Dean, present champion, and Chester Spain, Jr.

Mr. Spain was the winner of the one-mile championship contest, but withdrew from the five-mile race, because of an accident to his skates. The contest promises to be an exciting one, as the gentlemen are rapid skaters, and very evenly matched. This will be sport worth witnessing.

Mr. Cleveland's Cousin. Dr. C. D. Cleveland, a native of Missouri, who has resided in California since 1849, is on his way to attend the inauguration and to reveal himself as the long-lost cousin of the incoming President. Dr. C. will probably ascertain how much of the Missouri idea of running the executive office as a family bonanza will commend itself to Grover, or just where he will draw the line between family obligation and that of a public trust. Grover may take a notion that the discovery of a Missouri branch of his family in California was the cause of the remarkable Blaine boom in that State. But if more cordial sentiments should prevail the Central and Southern Pacific crowd would begin to only rate very favorable relations with the California branch of the Cleveland family.

Jack's Generalship. [Magazine of American History.] It seems that the very man whose estate General Jackson had administered, on taking possession of it when of age, and on examining the accounts thereto appertaining, had not found the customary charges which administrators bring in for their services, and had expostulated with General Jackson for the omission. The answer is worthy of the man; it has date May 25, 1820.

I have no charge, he says, "against your estate; I never charged an orphan one cent for either time or expense, and I am sure I will not begin with you."
